

Government center sites due county board view

By CATHY MOSS
Alameda County Bureau
OAKLAND — Alameda County Board of Supervisors will make on-site inspections of six proposed locations for the East County Government Center Jan. 30, county officials agreed Thursday.

The decision came as supervisors conducted the second public hearing for the governmental services complex.

Supervisors will visit the preferred site on Sunol Boulevard near Pleasanton City Hall as well as a site on Hopyard Road, one at Staples Ranch, another on Stanley Boulevard and one near Santa Rita. The sixth site chosen for consideration is near the Alameda County Fairgrounds. The sites were chosen by the architectural firm of Ratcliff, Slama and Cadwalder using criteria including accessibility and placement in relation to employees, prisoners and commercial facilities.

"No site is perfect in every respect," Robert Ratcliff of the consulting firm told the board. Livermore Planning Director George Musso heartily agreed as he related Livermore's disapproval of the site priority list.

"The city is willing to let Pleasanton have the center but we think Staples or Santa Rita would be more central," Musso told the board.

City officials place a "higher priority" to accessibility than other amenities offered with a site already in the midst of development, he said.

Pleasanton City Manager Bill

Edgar told the board his city concurred with the priority list.

Supervisors confronted with making a decision on the matter agreed to have an on-site inspection of the six top choices.

With funds for building the center slated to be allocated for the 1980 budget, county administrator Loren Enoch told the board the decision could be postponed for another year when architectural plans were authorized.

"The longer you delay the more informed you'll be," he said.

Supervisor Joseph Bort registered loud opposition to the suggestion saying, "I'm disturbed we hire consultants, they make a study and every month after the report's been made it's getting dustier...Two years from now we go out and hire another consultant with no change in conditions."

"History will support Mr. Bort's conclusion," Enoch responded, adding "action programs" not immediately instigated also "gather dust."

Supervisor John D. Murphy concurred with Bort before the board agreed to start by seeing the sites.

"We should accept or refuse the report and begin negotiations (for the land)," he said.

"All sites on this list can be had," Murphy added.

The center is to house a variety of permanent county services including the combine valley municipal court, farm advisers, public works and human resources agency workers.

ONE OF THE TWO LAKES AT THE CENTER FOR TECHNOLOGY BASKS IN THE SUN

Impressive tech center puts focus on aluminum

By CLAY KALLAM
The strikingly modern building looms over Highway 680; the immaculate grounds, populated with ducks and spotted with lakes and trees, are visible from Sunol Boulevard.

The sign simply says Kaiser Center for Technology, a rather cryptic identity, and most Valley residents pass it by with just a trace of quickly suppressed curiosity.

Inside, 335 employees work surrounded by bright and bold works of modern art, both sculpture and paintings, trying to further improve the product that is the primary structural ingredient of the impressive structure—aluminum.

To most, aluminum is a very prosaic subject. Aluminum foil is hardly the stuff of which dreams are made and to those with a smattering of scientific knowledge, aluminum is known as the most common metal on the earth's surface and somewhat dull.

And it is such a basic of modern life that people often forget that its utilization has come primarily in the last 30 years and that advances are continually being made in aluminum technology. And many of those advances are begun in Pleasanton, where the Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corporation built the Center for Technology in 1969.

The 85 acre, $13 million center not only has facilities for extensive research into aluminum but also is capable of supporting research into chemicals and refractories (bricks and other heat containing materials).

But aluminum is the main focus of research and aluminum technology is the main product. And just as most Valley residents are unaware of what actually goes on in the Center for Technology, so many people are unaware of how aluminum is made.

Although aluminum is the most common metal, it was not discovered until 1807 because it combines so readily with oxygen to form aluminum oxide or alumina. And alumina is not easy to identify either, as it is most commonly found in bauxite, an ore containing large amounts of silicon oxide.

Separating the aluminum oxide from the silicon oxide is not simple and the process was not developed until 1889, when a German scientist named Karl Joseph Bayer found that immersing bauxite with sodium hydroxide (caustic) under pressure would cause the alumina to precipitate.

By precipitate, scientists mean solidify in a liquid. What happens with caustic and bauxite is that the silicon oxide stays liquid while the alumina becomes a fine white powder.

However, alumina still contains half oxygen and it is necessary to electrolyze the alumina to produce molten aluminum. A cryolite bath is employed to aid in the separation and then the aluminum is siphoned off.

It takes approximately four tons of bauxite and large amounts of electric power to produce one ton of aluminum and as with everything else in these shortage-ridden times, the nations that produce bauxite (primarily tropical countries) are trying to band together to raise prices.

This has spurred research into another source of aluminum that has not yet been tapped—a clay called kaolin. Presently, the technology for extracting aluminum from clay is even more cumbersome than it is for removing it from bauxite. It takes ten tons of clay to produce one ton of aluminum and presently that is not an economical process.

However, that is what the Center for Technology is for. Not only do researchers there work on better methods of extracting aluminum from bauxite but they are also working on getting aluminum from clay. The United States has ample resources of aluminum locked in kaolin but the problem is getting the metal out.

Presently an acid is used to dissolve all but the aluminum and silicon. However, the aluminum is combined with chlorine and then steam must be added to produce alumina and hydrochloric acid. And the alumina, after all this, still has to be treated with an electrolytic bath.

'Outside political interference'

Campaign $ limit bid fizzles

By PAT WIDDER

Amid charges of "outside political interference" and "grandstanding," a proposed limit on campaign spending and contributions for the 15th Assembly District special election died a slow death Thursday.

At least two-thirds of the 15 candidates in the race have indicated they would not sign the proposed pact to limit spending to $15,000 and individual and group contributions to $500 and $5,000, respectively. The agreement also would have provided for establishment of a local bipartisan commission to review campaign statements and literature.

The pledge was first proposed by Republican Guy Puccio of Castro Valley but at least nine of the 12 Democrats in the race believe Puccio's action was the "ultimate in political hypocrisy."

Mary Warren, chairwoman of the Alameda County Democratic Central Committee, speaking for

On two occasions, Warren said, "Mr. Puccio has unilaterally called candidate meetings, then issued press releases, all in the name of political reform. However," she added, "this same Mr. Puccio declared over $30,000 in cash and in-kind contributions in the November election, more than twice what he is calling for now as a limitation." (Puccio was defeated by the late Carlos Bee in November.)

"Puccio knows that the name identification he bought so recently with the $33,000," Warren continued, "would give him an advantage over all other candidates."

In addition, Warren charged Puccio with "building a campaign war chest...under the guise of political reform." Quoting from a Jan. 14 article in the Sacramento Bee, Warren said, "Guy Puccio has become the beneficiary of an assembly leadership fight between Republicans Bob Beverly of Redondo Beach and John V. Briggs of Fullerton. Both Beverly forces and the Briggs-Cline dissidents are wooing Puccio and are pouring money into his campaign."

Warren, speaking for those nine Democrats, said, "A spending limitation from the beginning is a progressive, important tool in the struggle against political corruption. But offered late in the campaign after candidates have already made commitments and budgets, and done with grandstanding press releases and doubtful motives, it makes Mr. Puccio's request just another sterilized brand of the old politics."

Puccio, on the other hand, criticized his opponents for their failure to "help make campaign reform a reality in the 15th Assembly District." He denied his motives were strictly political and insisted the proposal was a "genuine attempt to insure the upcoming election is free from the big money influence of out-of-district special interest groups."

Puccio noted most of the candidates were originally favorable to the idea but "10 of them finally banded together to kill it." He also noted George Oakes, his lone Republican challenger, "refused from the start to support the reform move."

Puccio claimed the Democrats' joint refusal to agree to the pledge came "shortly after a meeting with Assembly Speaker Leo McCarthy. It is my understanding," he added, "McCarthy was not pleased with the idea, especially the part about campaign spending limitations." Puccio called "interference by outside power brokers inappropriate" in what was essentially a local matter.

He said he still intended to abide by the spending limitation, even if he is the only candidate who does.

Ired Zone 7 water panel chairman resigns

Harlan Zodtner, Chairman of Zone 7's Waste Water Committee, resigned his chairmanship Thursday night, claiming he was "not happy with the performance (of the committee). I'm willing to take the blame," he said, "but not to continue."

Zodtner's resignation came at the close of Zone 7's Board of Director's meeting in apparent reaction to another tie vote on the Zone 7-Livermore Amador Valley Water Management Agency (LAVWMA) memorandum of understanding.

Zodtner, Secretary Robert Becker, and George Lydixsen cast negative votes, while Chairman Joe Concannon, Vice-Chairman D. W. Harris, and Robert Pearson voted "aye."

Robert Ryon, the seventh member of the board, was absent. In its previous tie vote Ryon had voted to approve the memorandum.

In discussing the financial report and budget for the coming fiscal year, Becker noted that, "Zone 7's financial position is a sound one," and that the tax rate should be lowered from 38 to 34 cents.

The budget for fiscal 1975-76 is not complete, he added, and the board moved to hold a special budget meeting this Wednesday. Time and place will be announced.

Zodtner's motion that the Health and Planning

Departments forward all requests for septic tanks within the Zone's area to the board for clearance cleared by a unanimous vote.

Septic tank density in the Militas Avenue area and the concomitant potential downgrading of the underground water supply prompted the motion, along with a move by Alameda County requesting input from the board.

Supervisors move on putting Sunol valley land into tax-sheltered preserve

Alameda County Bureau
OAKLAND — Some 95 acres of valley agricultural land was tentatively placed in agricultural reserve Thursday as the Alameda County Board of Supervisors move to include the Sunol Valley land into the tax-sheltered preserve.

Landowners to be officially in the reserve program must now sign a contract with the county pledging to maintain the land's agricultural use.

The vote to approve the land for reserve privileges will make a contiguous agricultural stretch on Andrade Road.

Supervisors approved the designation after Alameda County Planning Director William Fraley said not to include a second piece of land in the reserve would place a pressure for development in the area.

Only one of the subject landowners had requested the agricultural provision.

But Fraley said making the offer to the owner of land at that owned by Joseph Franco could provide a contiguous agricultural preserve.

JOYCE LeCLAIRE
Cities need more Sacramento support

LeClaire plans grass roots road to Assembly

By PAT WIDDER

The last candidate to file for the 15th Assembly District race is "not just one of the guys." As a matter of fact, Joyce LeClaire, 35, has the distinction of being the only woman in the 15-member race.

LeClaire became Pleasanton's first elected councilwoman in March of this year and plans to utilize the same grassroots network of supporters that put her on the council to take her into the assembly.

As a woman, she is actively seeking the support of women but emphasizes her campaign organization includes many male volunteers also. "Women are becoming more and more convinced," she said, "that in order to insure legislation in the area of equal protection under the law, it will be necessary to support women candidates at all levels of government."

Her campaign will be aimed at "the independent voter who respects independent thinking," she said. LeClaire thinks if she was "stereotyped before the city council election, I have since shown I am capable of responding to needs."

Her experience on the council has made her "acutely aware of how little control we have over our own future," LeClaire said. And that, she added, is her primary reason for running for assembly. "I have been very disappointed in the lack of response from regional government."

"Each agency," she added, "is not in communication with each other, they often have mutually conflicting regulations and they leave the cities scrambling."

LeClaire contends what is needed is strong representation at the state level to reduce the "enormous power" given those regional agencies. Those organizations are not at all aware of the problems faced by cities, she believes and furthermore often do "not have our best interests at heart. I've come to find that each agency is more interested in its own special area of control," she added.

Consolidation of regional agencies might be an answer, she noted, but added, "I am not prepared to say one super-agency would be good unless I have very strong assurances that super-agency would not result in abolition of local government."

LeClaire feels strongly that state representatives must be more supportive of local government. Referring to some of Pleasanton's more recent battle regarding the sewer situation and the widening of Interstate 580, she said, "If we had had the state representatives behind us, I think it would have added more muscle to our positions. I think it is the responsibility of state representatives to be aware of what's happening in local jurisdictions, be on top of what's happening and to lend support to local jurisdictions in their battles with regional agencies," she added.

LeClaire referred to the decisions of the Alameda County Board of Supervisors and Local Agency Formation Commission regarding Harlan Geldermann's proposed Las Positas New Town as an example. On the one hand, the regional agencies "are telling us we can't grow because of the environmental problems," she said, and, on the other hand, there are "extremely inconsistent" decisions like those on New Town.

The crux of the problem, LeClaire believes is that "nowhere does the law state who is ultimately in the position of making a decision. There is an attitude of confusion within the agencies and a great deal of stumbling around." To remedy that, she added, "The state is going to have to take the responsibility to somehow untangle the confusion" and institute "the controls and guidelines that are needed."

LeClaire characterizes herself as a "moderate" Democrat who can "arrive at compromise" and believes people with moderate views who can balance the needs of the economy and environment are needed in Sacramento.

For the past several years, she added, when a city such as Pleasanton "took a stand against a regional agency," it was assumed the regional agency was always right and city was out to "destroy the environment." That is not true, LeClaire contends, and adds ignorance on the part of voters compounds the situation. "The electorate is often unaware of certain restrictions cities have, such as the State Subdivision Map Act," she said, "which requires them to accept development proposals. Many people think you can elect someone to a city council who will go in and stop growth. I don't think," she emphasized, "people are truly aware of the position cities are in."

LeClaire views her mandate as "giving local government more control because each local government is in the best position to assess its needs."

"The state of the economy is the number one issue facing the district and state, she said, and steps should be taken to improve the lot of lower and middle income people. She also contends many people are "very upset about the abuses of legislators in Sacramento" in things such as per diem wages and automobile privileges. "There are some more complex issues," she admitted but said that is one that "people can relate to."

Because of the number of candidates in the race and the lack of more campaigning time, LeClaire contends the "determining factor" in the election will be money because it is the most effective "vehicle for reaching the voters." LeClaire considers that a "tragedy" and believes the "only solution is public financing" of elections.

LeClaire became involved in politics on the local level seven years ago and is active in the Democratic Party. Her background includes experience in industrial development, fashion modeling, residential development and media merchandising fields. She and her husband, Paul, have one son.

Police cars, copter in 100 mph., marathon

By RON RODRIGUEZ
LIVERMORE — A 30 minute, 17 mile high speed chase Wednesday afternoon involving two police units and a helicopter from East Bay Regional Park District ended in the arrest of Wayne Hamilton Dickey, 27, on charges of reckless driving with disregard for life and property, resisting arrest, battery on a police officer, and assault with a deadly weapon.

According to Livermore police reports, Dickey's Chevrolet - 283 cubic - inch - powered 1968 Jeep pulled from the stop light at Fourth and K Streets at 3:10 p.m., with another tan Jeep, "at a high rate of speed and burning rubber."

Officer Craig W. Worden, 28, gave chase down Fourth Street, and while the tan Jeep pulled over, Dickey, 3878 Yale Way, Livermore, allegedly continued, "weaving within the two lanes of the east bound roadway."

Running the stop light at Fourth Street and Livermore Avenue at 35 mph, the report continues, Dickey headed out East Avenue accelerating to more than 50 mph before turning south onto Dolores Street, then west on Pacific running the stop at Livermore Avenue, then turning south on Livermore and accelerating to more than 100 mph.

Dickey headed for Livermore's rural area out Tesla and Mines Roads, "slowing" to 70 mph for the curves and using both lanes of traffic.

Worden, still in pursuit, was joined by Officer Leonard R. Wicksten and a helicopter from the park district.

Dickey nearly hit three approaching cars, according to the report, before turning left into a ranch road one-quarter mile past the Brand Iron Tavern.

Tearing through a locked iron gate at the rear of the ranch, the high-powered Jeep drove three-quarters of a mile up a dirt road before taking off cross country.

Unable to pursue him on the hill, Worden ran to the crest of the steep, grassy hill only to be confronted by Dickey's Jeep, now turned about, bearing down on him. Worden leaped into some nearby bushes to avoid being hit.

Attempting to hit someone with a vehicle is "assault with a deadly weapon."

Meanwhile, with the helicopter hovering overhead, Wicksten blocked the road below with his Patrol car.

Dickey drove down the hill and into Wicksten's car before coming to a stop.

Wicksten was forced to pull Dickey from his car when Dickey verbally assaulted the officer and refused to leave his Jeep.

Worden charged down the knoll to help Wicksten, who was, according to the report, resisting arrest.

Dickey was booked at police headquarters then taken to Valley Memorial Hospital complaining of a hand injury.

At VMH Dickey agreed to cooperate with the officers so that he might have an ice bag for his hand. Once outside, however, he threw the ice bag at Wicksten, slugged Officer Phillip Gessini, 26, brought in to assist Worden and Wicksten, and ran off down the street.

He was apprehended and returned to police headquarters.

The Jeep, registered to Donna Pederson, of Carson City, Nevada, was impounded.

Donation is $1.75 ages 13 to 64; senior citizens $1; and children six to 12 years, $1 and children under six 50 cents for dinner.

Entertainment will be provided by the "Heat" band, a local group managed by George Russ from Amador High School.

Jewel thief sought

Police are still investigating a $1000 diamond burglary which occurred in Livermore earlier this week.

The victim, Lillian Y. Coverdell, reported two diamond rings, valued at $1000, were stolen from her Meadowlark Street home Sunday afternoon or evening. She told police she was away that day and when she returned home, found the sliding glass door ajar. A search of the home revealed two diamond rings missing from her bedroom nightstand.

One ring, valued at $700 is described as a two carat diamond in a silver setting surrounded by eight smaller, one-quarter carat diamonds. The other is a silver setting wedding band with two small diamonds at the center. Police theorize the thieves

"knew what they were looking for."

Sometime between midnight and 8 a.m. Monday, burglars entered the garage of Lyle Ray Brown, 26, 466 Hummingbird Ln., Livermore, and pried open the wind-wing of Brown's car, removing $168 in "Craftsman" brand tools, a $150 tan, suede jacket, and an $80 pair of glasses.

Pleasanton police report the theft Monday night or early Tuesday morning of $500 in lumber from the Singer Construction Corporation's lot, 39 at 6724 Taffy Ct.

Hospital site EIR

PLEASANTON — The rezoning of some 55 acres west from Santa Rita Road to provide for a hospital and related uses is a land - use change that will require an environmental impact report. That determination has been made by the city's Department of Housing and Community Development.

The property, which is south of Interstate 580, will be changed from industrial park uses to commercial service, institutional, multiple residential and office uses, if action initiated by Valley Memorial Hospital's board of directors is accepted by the city.

The search for a new hospital site to provide a major medical center to serve the entire valley has covered a span of some two years, including tests of the Santa Rita Road site to determine the extent of earthquake faults which might underlie that ground.

Housing meeting

LIVERMORE — The city will hold the second of three public hearings Monday night at the city council meeting to discuss the Housing and Community Development Act needs of Livermore.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in the Municipal Court chambers, 39 S. Livermore Ave and priorities for allocating approximately $103,000 of a total of $622,000 over the next three years will be considered. To date, the city has received more than 35 suggestions from interested citizens and agencies on how the money could be spent. It is anticipated that those who have given the city input will be present Monday night to explain their ideas.

Development triggers landslides?

Potential hazards for Lake Del Valle

There are definite potential hazards to the continued operation of Lake Del Valle if Alameda and Santa Clara Counties permit "significant land use changes" in the 28 mile Arroyo Del Valle Basin which might trigger landslides and soil erosion.

That is the considered opinion of Robin Reynolds, District Engineer for the Central District of the State Department of Water Resources, who supervised a reconnaissance study of the natural resources of the 95,300 acre basin.

"There is a substantial hazard to the quality of water in Lake Del Valle if significant land use changes were to occur in the basin" the study adds.

Lake Del Valle and the surrounding 3445 acre park is owned by the State Department of Water Resources. Purposes of the big reservoir are water supply, flood control and recreation. The lake receives water pumped in from the South Bay Aqueduct through the Del Valle pumping plant in addition to storing local runoff from Arroyo Del Valle. Releases from the lake can be made into the aqueduct to supply needs of the State Water Project contractors or into downstream Arroyo Del Valle to satisfy water rights or to recharge the ground water basin in the Valley and along Alameda Creek.

"The present condition of the reservoir and drainage basin is, apparently, quite stable" the study reports "but there is a great potential for damage to the basin and the reservoir if land use changes occur."

"Damage to the reservoir could adversely affect water deliveries to the urban populations in Alameda and Santa Clara counties."

"Because of the serious potential problems of soil media and Santa Clara need to exercise extreme caution in approving any land use changes within the basin."

"Even limited change in land use such as construction of access roads into more remote areas or grading for building construction, if not carefully planned, could accelerate the occurrence of soil erosion or landslide problems. Soils throughout the basin are generally shallow."

Severe erosion hazards exist on 80 per cent of the land area in that basin."

The problem is accentuated by the fact that 43 per cent of the land area are remains of major landslides (exceeding 500 feet in length), according to the report.

Chabot attracts one out of 12 adults

Who's using the community colleges, Chabot and Diablo Valley, that our tax dollars are supporting?

One out of every 12 residents between the ages of 18 and 65, that's who.

According to statewide statistics, that is the proportion of residents now enrolled at a community junior college somewhere in the state. That average is thought to hold true for Diablo Valley College (DVC) in Pleasant Hill, where San Ramon residents are eligible to attend, as well as for Chabot, which serves Pleasanton, Livermore and Dublin scholars.

The figures include students who are enrolled full time and those who are only picking up a night course or two. But they don't include the many more residents who take advantage of free films, concerts and lectures frequently offered on campus.

While enrollments nationally in four-year colleges have been shrinking, the state's junior colleges have continued their brisk pace of increasing enrollments.

Growth is credited to accessibility, employment oriented courses, low cost and evening classes.

Community college officials say the current tight economy may be reducing the number of students who can afford to go away to traditional colleges and shunting them towards the two years of free education offered at their local junior colleges.

The states share of funding for community colleges will amount to 42 per cent this year. That's better than the 34 per cent support received two years ago but still shy of the 45 per cent sought by college officials.

California's community college network is the largest of its kind in the Western world. Under the authorship of Sen. Frank Ciminetti of Amador County, legislation for such a system was passed in 1907.

Mary McAllister

THE STRONGLY WOMEN-ORIENTED pages of the past have, in recent years, given way to sections like our own Lifestyle, which tries to get it all together, looking at what PEOPLE — men and women — do to make life more interesting, or even in this day and age, to survive.

If we frequently focus on the Women's Rights movement, it is simply because it is trying to bring the majority of the world population into line with the rights of the minority that has held dominion over it since time immemorial.

Just because a fellow gives you his rib you don't have to wag your tail in gratitude and obeisance forevermore. Or give him your right arm (or even lip service!). After all, he didn't give you anything he couldn't do without. He simply shared something. He had a rib to spare.

It wasn't even his idea. He was put to sleep by the Creator, who then did what he thought was best for the human race: He created Woman. It's all there in the Scriptures. Man floundering around until Woman came along to give some meaning to his life.

(Granted, it could have happened the other way around. It all reads like a trial and error laboratory anyhow: If something doesn't work, throw the whole thing back in and start all over. Right, Noah?

Point is, He could just as easily have created woman first. It could have been HER rib. And we would have just as readily shared. Right, sisters?

Anyhow, let's all live together as sisters and brothers, spouses, mates ... and share it all, now ... work, play, rights, love ... Oh, yes, and money!

IT WAS A MILLION-TO-ONE shot that it could happen. But it did.

In Livermore dwells a lady named Canossa Sue. That's what the press release said. We didn't believe it, so last week we wrote on this page that Sue Canessa would be taking reservations for a Pleasanton New-comers luncheon, not only reversing the name given us but misspelling it in the process.

Well, as the fates would have it, in pleasant Pleasanton there really does live one Sue Canessa. We hadn't listed a phone number, but our enterprising readers looked her up. Her phone was ringing almost steadily enough to activate the Richter scale, while at Canossa Sue's in Livermore it was so quiet no one could have blamed her had she considered cancelling the luncheon. Fortunately, all the phone calls were straightened out and the luncheon turned out to be a success. Our apologies for the mixup.

Time was a journalist could blame most of his or her gross errors on the boys in the backshop (there really weren't any women in that domain) who set the hot lead type. But that was risky. Their recourse, if you injudiciously nailed them thus, was to scramble your next great masterpiece. So you usually bit your lip, wept inwardly, but said nothing. Today, with the new computerized typing system, what you read is what we wrote. Probably. (SOMEBODY FIX THAT COMPUTER!)

For instance, last week I referred to Julie Dunham of Hap's as a Mardi Gras queen candidate. That's not so, of course. Julie is sponsoring Portia Wade, who is a candidate, as are Peggy Shoemaker and Tyny Dunkley. No boys in the backshop to blame? How about, Well, you just can't trust these computer typewriters after they've written "Mardi Gras" three thousand times, even for a good cause. Anyhow Julie, who was recently named Woman of the Year (by Pleasanton Jaycee Wives in November) for her many good works, is a very regal lady, as everyone who knows her will agree.

CHAIRPERSONS IS A DESIGNATION many people are coming to accept in the name of equal rights, though it adds to the awkwardness of the English language. Now Fremont's Cherie Swenson of the Embroiderers' Guild of America, Bay Area chapter, is writing us about "needlepersons." NEEDLEPERSONS?? (Perhaps to distinguish sewer from sew-im, Cherie??)

LOOKING FORWARD to a grand evening tomorrow are the members of Livermore's International Order of Odd Fellows Lodge 219 and Rebekah Lodge 154 who will have their new officers jointly installed by the combined grand officers and drill staff of the Alameda lodges. The ceremony begins at 8 p.m.

Teddy Rombough is the Odd Fellows' Noble Grand with other top officers including John Dykes, vice grand; Russ Owen, junior past grand; Henry Stratmann and Earl English, recording and financial secretary, and James C. Taylor, treasurer. Cynthia Hundt will be noble grand of the Rebekahs; Doris Bankhead, vice grand; Edna Rettig, junior past noble grand; Lea Rooney and Sarah Stratman, recording and financial secretary, and Glenna Jackson, treasurer. Have a good year.

She's Woman of Achievement

Mrs. Lillian Snorf, coordinator of the Livermore Senior Citizens Multi-Service Center, has been selected Woman of Achievement by the Livermore Business and Professional Women's Club.

She will be honored Jan. 22 at a dinner and meeting of the club at the Rancher restaurant at 6:30 p.m.

Mrs. Snorf, who has been involved in social work for 30 years, was instrumental in establishing the senior citizens center at Livermore in 1969. In 1970 she served on the board of Inter-Faith Housing (Hillcrest Gardens), low cost housing for senior citizens.

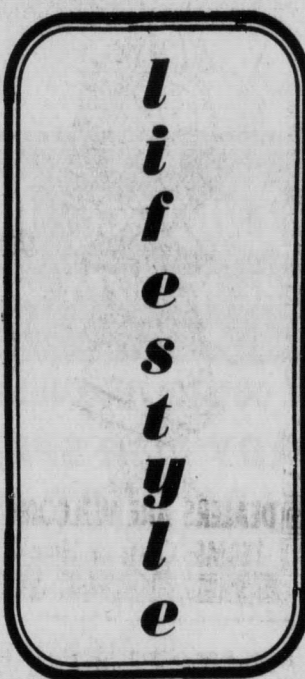

Through her efforts the Meals-on-Wheels program was organized for low income shut-ins, and part-time transportation was made available to senior citizens for medical appointments, shopping and banking.

Mrs. Snorf has worked with the Emergency Fund Center, Accord, and the Alameda County Public Health Commission through which she helped set up the Flu Shot Clinic. A weekly Blood Pressure Clinic soon to be established is the result of her efforts with the Red Cross.

Reservations for the award dinner must be made in advance through Mrs. O'Malia at 447-0386, before 10 a.m. Monday. Cost of the dinner is $4.95, with tax and tip included.

Guest speaker for the evening is Mrs. Wilma Myers who will explain how she converted her weaving hobby into a business.

Adele Kruger and Dorothy Hock have coordinated the dinner and Woman of Achievement program.

A change for 'Op'ry

The melodrama, "No Op'ry Tonight" scheduled for 8 p.m. Friday at the barn on Walter Johnson's Golden Eagle Ranch has been changed to the Amador High School Cafeteria at 9 p.m. A "Happy Hour" will be at the Aquatic Center, Black Avenue, from 8 to 9 p.m.

Students with I.D. cards will be admitted to the melodrama for $1.50 and adults $3. Sponsor of this event is Tyny Dunkley, candidate for queen of the 1975 Mardi Gras. Proceeds benefit community projects sponsored by the Pleasanton Junior Women's Club.

Parents night at St. Augustine Church

Tuesday at 8 p.m. at St. Augustine's Church, a Parents' Night will be held. Father Gerald Coleman, noted theologian from St. Patrick's Seminary, will speak on "The Eucharist." This is very important for all parishioners, but especially for parents of children in the First Communion Classes.

The Oakland CCD office is sponsoring a special workshop for teachers of grades one to six on Thursday from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and again from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. The workshop is for teachers using the New Life Series.

An adult education series entitled, "Christ in the World Morality of Society" will be offered by Larry Silva, beginning Tuesday, Jan. 28.

Travel arrangements are being made by Ed Burns of Pleasanton Travel Service. Interested persons are requested to call Father McAllister, 846-4489 or Ed Burns, 846-1404.

The Pleasantones, a group of five young Christian couples from the Evangelical Free Church of Pleasanton, presently under the direction of Mrs. Kensell Schumacher will perform at the Fellowship Hour on Sunday at 7 p.m. at the church. Their program, "Discovery," consists of seventeen songs revolving around the basic message of the Gospel and is accompanied by a visual presentation. The Pleasantones have presented their programs in many churches in Northern California.

Deacons meeting

LIVERMORE — "Resources for Renewal" will be the theme of the Communion meditation of the Reverend Milton C. Johnson of Holy Cross Lutheran Church. He also will serve as the celebrant of the Holy Eucharist at the duplicate Family Worship Services Sunday morning.

The Sunday Adult Inquiry Series continues at 7 p.m. with the second in the current series.

Watts' goal gives Cowboys 1-0 victory

BY MIKE ZAMPA

Ken Watts, hero by default, plugged a rifle-shot into the top of Dublin High's net yesterday, bringing Livermore a 1-0 EBAL soccer victory and a full length lead with the title race entering the stretch.

When Dublin was flagged down for a second half handball, (a wildly disputed foul) Watts was called on to replace the Cowboys' regular penalty shooter, Dan Payne.

Payne didn't even suit up for the game due to a knee injury. Watts slammed the kick high, off the finger tips of Dublin goal keeper Chris Cantalini, and into the top of the goal.

The score shattered a deadlock that extended well into the second half. It also left Livermore tantalizingly near another league championship.

Both the Cowboys and Gaels have three games to play, with Livermore leading Dublin by two points in the standings. On paper Livermore looks better than all of its remaining opponents. If that proves true, the race is over.

"Our kids will keep hustling, they won't let down," Cowboy coach Don Gabor promised as he accepted congratulations yesterday. "They've still got something to prove for that tie with Granada the first time."

That, and a tie with Monte Vista, are the only blemishes on Livermore's record.

If Livermore plans to keep it that way, it will do so without Payne, probably the league's outstanding player.

He ripped up knee cartilage in a defeat of Monte Vista Tuesday, and is out for the season.

"The kids missed him," Gabor said after the match. "They wanted to win one for the Gipper."

Dublin refused to be moved by the sentimentality, and fought desperately to the end. The Gaels outshot the Cowboys, 19-13 in the Dublin book, 32-30 in Livermore's.

They nearly tied it five minutes after Watts' score when Rich Slade bounced a shot off the cross-bar. The carom hopped to Robin Sherwood who headed the ball directly at goal keeper Pete Howard.

There were at least a dozen other opportunities like that for Dublin.

But Howard's good play, with help from fullbacks Ron Foreman, Keith Richardson and Jeff Peters, left the Gaels frustrated. In two games with the Cowboys this year, Dublin has scored just once. That does not count a 3-0 Gael victory in a Christmas-time tournament.

The Cowboys' hope was to keep Dublin off the scoreboard, at least for one half.

"We figured with the sun in our eyes, if we could hold them to 0-0 at halftime, we'd be all right," Gabor said. "The second half was in our favor because the wind came up and it was in our favor. When the kids thought they had an advantage, then they did."

Gabor had strong praise for Foreman, and for halfbacks Wayne Perry and Robin Wilkerson. "The halfbacks did a fine job controlling the mid-field," he said. "Once in a while we'd drop Martinez or Rich (forwards Dennis Martinez and Rich Palmer) back for three halfbacks. The last game Dublin was shooting a lot from the middle, and with just two men there, it left them an open man."

Dublin threatened to score four times right after the intermission, but came up empty.

Midway through the second half the handball charge was leveled near the Livermore sideline.

Dublin coach Gene Cassvan raced from the bench near mid-field, clear to the goal mouth to protest the call.

Mustangs brace for Amador confrontation

Gary Yates hasn't scouted the Amador Dons.

However, the Monte Vista head coach, whose Mustang basketball team takes on Amador tonight in Danville, is more concerned with who'll be officiating.

"Amador came out in a man-to-man press against Livermore and blew them right out the door," said Yates as his team prepared to meet the East Bay's third-ranked club.

"They'll come at you very aggressively. Maybe you'll beat the press for a while, but they'll keep slapping your wrists, your arms, everything. If the officials don't catch it early, it doesn't take long before you're coughing the ball up."

The Mustangs are 2-1 in EBAL play, and figure to be one of the two longshots to knock over the Dons. Very long shots.

"Their front line is huge, physical, like a machine," Yates said of such figures as 6-5 Jeff Hine and 6-7 Andy Finn. "They attack the boards viciously, and they'll attempt to take over the baseline. We'll have to play the biggest people we've got."

Aside from 6-7 center Scott Trantina, the Mustangs are lacking any real strength when it comes to stopping a Don rebounding festival.

"Being realistic, I'd say we'll need a maximal shooting effort," Yates continued. "We'll definitely have to concentrate on our foul shooting, as well as our shot selection from the field."

Against Livermore, Monte Vista shot a grim 34 percent from the field. But Yates continues to wax as optimistic as possible.

"We'll go after them. We're not conceding a thing."

"But again, realistically — and I'm not being funny or sarcastic about this — it will take an epidemic of the flu, or six or eight of their players breaking a leg, for them to lose the EBAL championship."

Has anyone checked the officials' astrological charts?

Merciful Dons top Wolves

By TED BROCK

The Amador Dons, true experts in the art of mercy killing, extended a sympathetic hand to hapless San Ramon yesterday, limiting themselves to a 5-0 EBAL soccer victory over the Wolves in Danville.

San Ramon used up its one available strategem before the match began, moving its bench to the sunny side of the field. "We'll try anything," remarked Wolf coach Rick Steen, slapping an Amador Valley Coaching Staff clipboard against his thigh.

"To the ball, Amador!" exhorted the Dons' Dave Norton, and for the first 15 minutes of the contest his teammates gave it some thought. Amador put together a halting attack early in the first half, hurting themselves with offside, shoving off and charging violations.

But forward Brett Boldrini, certainly aware by now that the San Ramon defense was all it wasn't cracked up to be, took a lead pass from freshman wing Joe Corriea and slammed it past SR goalie Matt Priewe from 15 yards out, putting the Dons ahead for good with 15 minutes gone.

Brett scored three goals during the afternoon, his second coming five minutes later with an assist from brother Brad.

Strong defensive stands by Ken Carney and the rest of Amador's back line held the Wolves to five shots on goal in the first half. Alan Weitecha's main concern was with the sunlight bouncing off the western horizon. As for live action, he saved four in the Dons' net and was relieved in the second half by Dave Schneider.

The early minutes of the second half belonged exclusively to Amador, as Brett Boldrini launched several bombs network. Some missed, others were adroitly flagged down by SR goalie Matt Priewe.

The Wolf netminder, for the umpteenth time a victim of leaky halfback and fullback play, recorded 16 saves in the game. He was often forced to roam wide of the goalmouth to back up his struggling defensemen.

The Dons took 36 shots on goal for the game, hitting an offensive streak at the 25 minute mark of the second half.

Dan Sandoval applied excellent touch to an indirect kick, and Corriea wheeled to his left and connected from 15 yards out. The Dons led, 3-0.

Two minutes later, Brett Boldrini teamed with Corriea for the offensive gem of the match.

Corriea rifled a centering pass from the right wing, which Boldrini took knee-high on the fly and rammed into the cords from 20 yards out from a slight right-side angle.

Corriea ended the late Amador flurry at 30:00, taking a pass from Brett and connecting from five yards out, as Amador took advantage of a lightly contested three-on-two charge.

Priewe's tolerance for the absurd was severely tested early in the second half when he was penalized for doing his job. He handled a ball within 10 yards of the net, only to hear the official award Amador a penalty kick from that spot.

But the EBAL's professor of misfortune braced himself and came up with a fine save, compensating for a tender San Ramon wall.

Pizza Arcade five whips Gordillo's

Pizza Arcade used a five-point halftime advantage as a jumping off point for a 48-34 thrashing of Gordillo's New York Life in Livermore recreation basketball Wednesday.

The winners blew open the contest in the second half with Ted Anderson scoring 18 of his 25 total points. Teammate Fred Barrett helped establish the halftime advantage scoring all his 12 points in that stretch.

Mike Willis paced the losers with 15 points, and Ray Street had seven.

Sandia No. 2 belted Ideal Dravage, 46-16 behind the shooting of Al Jones and Jim Swisher. Jones had 12 points, Swisher, 11.

Two OT's, McGregor's squeaks by Parker, 40-39

McGregor's National Reserve Life went to two overtimes to defeat Parker Research, 40-39 in Livermore recreation basketball Monday night.

Lane Fabian scored 14 points to pace the winners and hit four points in the overtime. Teammate John Wheaton had 10.

Sandia No. 2 overcame a seven point halftime deficit to clip Lloyd's Bank, 34-31. Harry Saxton's eight points was tops for Sandia. Lloyd's Ken Mercer topped all scorers with 14.

Trinity Baptist received balanced scoring and earned a 40-33 victory over Gordillo's New York Life.

Tom Harmon paced the winners with 12 points, but Bob Martin had 10, Lou Patterson, nine, and Jerry Christopher, seven.

Joe Benjamin led Gordillo's with 11 points, including seven of eight free throws.

The Celtics rapped B Electric, 46-30, on the shooting of Pete Tolman and Steve Briggs. Tolman was the leading scorer with 19 points, while Briggs added 14.

For B Electric, Dennis Nichols had 10 points.

How To Live and Like it

Man-Caused Headaches Are Children-Caused

Dr. W. H. Hoffert

To further the theory that many a chronically recurring headache originates in the neck, a Livermore chiropractor has studied headache-prone children.

They all had recurring headaches of adult type without apparent cause.

Dr. W. H. Hoffert, D.C., who has given years to the riddle of headaches, reports his results after extensive case history evaluation. He became interested in children because so many adult patients trace their chronic head aches to childhood and because children's necks are subject to hazards unknown to adults.

Children wrestle and their necks get twisted. Children fall from bicycles and sleds, sometimes on their neck. Children can get hit on their neck with baseball bats and other sticks.

Pain and stiffness in the neck disappear in a day or two and the injury is forgotten. But that slight injury can be permanent and flower periodically into headaches, according to theory.

The spine has a curve in it, the "lordotic curve." A twisted neck could lessen or sharpen the curve. Or a mild neck injury could be to the ligaments.

"The neck must be considered a prime suspect in every headache case of unknown origin in children as well as adults," Dr. Hoffert reports.

And pain killers aren't the answer for either adults or their offspring.

"The Band-Aide approach to the recurring headache problem is ridiculous. Remember, you can't cover them over forever."

Dr. Hoffert urges chiropractic care for headaches, pointing to chiropractic's track record in immediate and sympathetic care.

Dr. Hoffert maintains chiropractic offices at 2602 First Street, Livermore, CA. Telephone 447-8800 or 455-6771.

Woody's 661 leads hot week

Woody Witkowski topped a week of big scores at Granada Bowl with a 661 three-game series in winter league bowling.

Witkowski, of the Sunday Swooners, rolled a 227-204-235 set.

Sandia's Don Starkey rolled a 248 high game and wound up with a 658 series.

Meanwhile, in Guys and Dolls, Harv Hiner, who rolled a 252 single game, posted a 659, and teammate Frank Shenave, a 619. Shenave rolled a 219 high game.

CSB Construction rolled a 1001 with Harv Hiner, 252, Bernie 193, Marie Jones, 174, R.B. Jones, 163, and Shenave, 219.

In the Men's Classic, Rene Drumtra rolled a final game 246 to top everyone with a 646 series. Ernie Fagot's 255 was the league's high game.

Two women, Lorraine Freitas and Marge Schmitz earned Triplicate Awards. Freitas rolled three 177's, and Schmitz had 150's.

Junior bowler Brian Barrett rolled a 222 single game.

Jo Caley posted a 232 in Guys and Dolls, and Charlene Vomacka, 225 for Strikes and Spares.

Granada Bowl announced that Blue Chip ponanza will be held at 9:15 p.m. this week.

Warriors drop 2nd straight

The Tri-Valley Warriors lost their second game in a row Wednesday night, and third in the last four, 95-93 to Sacramento.

The Warriors dropped to 7-4, and a slim half-game lead over Stockton in the Western Basketball Association. The Golden Arches own a 7-5 record. Sacramento pulled within a game of the league leaders at 7-6.

The two teams meet again Sunday evening in Pleasanton.

The Warriors spend most of Wednesday's game playing catch up, trailing by as many as eight points at various junctures.

Whither that county center?

The first thing we should be told is just who is served by a "county administrative center for the Amador Livermore Valley." The second question may be of even more urgent consideration: "What good is the damned thing to any one community?"

Judging by the verbal skirmishing now underway twixt the valley's major population centers, it is apparent that — 1. City of Pleasanton would like the county center in its midst for reasons that are unclear; 2. City of Livermore would see that center hung from the moon before that board of municipal fathers would abide by a Pleasanton site.

The bickering is not new, at least not in the seventies' version of "One - Valley Planning and Harmony." This time, however, the public has a great deal at stake in the final decision. That county administrative complex, wherever and whenever it is built, could be an important addition to the valley's scene; it could also be a gigantic pain in the behind.

In and of itself, any county center is first a court house, second a welfare center, and in lesser degrees a public works department, large assembly hall and a gripe desk. The people drawn to that hub are usually in trouble, in need or in search of information. Such a center offers little immediate community service, makes no sales, pays no taxes.

On the plus side of that ledger, any city which wins such a county plum would doubtless attract also peripheral growth from private investors — law offices, notary publics, a restaurant or two and even a scattering of bail bondsmen.

Valley Memorial Hospital is a regional center meeting much of that same criteria. The private investment attracted by such a large medical facility is considerable. We can all recall what some of those doctor - investors thought of the proposal to move VMH to a new, larger site out of Livermore, and into Pleasanton.

Livermore also waged a stubborn battle some years ago to assure that the promised valley branch of Chabot Community College would be located close by that city, and not — as a planning consultant had recommended — "near the heart of the valley." That would have also meant closer to Pleasanton than to Livermore. But the present college site is a good one, notwithstanding a lot of "new growth fears" thrown up by a latter-day Livermore council.

Meanwhile, the Alameda County Fairgrounds — the biggest and busiest facility of its kind in all of Northern California — continues to expand within Pleasanton's bosom untroubled by any competing city challenge to have that entertainment monster shifted to some other hamlet. Those municipal champions have learned that any governmental largess can be a mixed blessing.

Similarly, no other community is demanding that the Santa Rita prison be moved from its Amador Valley site into their city limits. It's all a matter of whose ox is being gored, and the current market price of bull.

Before Pleasanton rushes out to embrace this latest "county plum," we would suggest an in - depth environmental and economic study as to the impact a large governmental complex might have on that century - old core area. And before Livermore's city council goes frothing at the political mouth "against any Pleasanton site" for that county center, a review of that same board's recent record vis - a - vis community college campuses, freeways and waste disposal might prove of considerable value.

The location of the one county administrative center that will be have to serve this 500 - square - mile expanse for half a century or more is too big a decision to be resolved on the scale of petty provincialism to which the valley's "leaders" seem to have slipped.

"Oh, well, there's always '76!"

Letters to the editor

Those signs

Editor, The Times:

There have been several articles lately regarding campaign signs. Unfortunately, signs appear to play a role in most elections.

The signs for Floyd Mori for Assembly were put up this past Saturday by many willing volunteers to whom we are grateful for their efforts and involvement. However, it appears that some of the signs were not properly or adequately placed, for which we apologize.

It has also been noticed that signs for other candidates have been ruined, apparently caused by the mischief of a few, in addition to normal weathering.

It has been out intention, of course, to comply with the sign ordinances. We regret that a problem occurred. Efforts are being made to correct the situation as soon as possible. If you become aware of improper signs, a call to our headquarters at 462-5955 would be appreciated so that we may be aware of the location and make the necessary adjustments.

We hope the signs will help the public to become aware of the candidates and the coming election, but that the voters will look beyond the signs to each individual's qualifications.

Thank you

The Floyd Mori Campaign Committee

FOCUS/Schools' new directions

Outdoor Education a contemporary concept

School districts in relatively recent years have become more and more attuned to facilities and educational "tools" about them.

In short, the scope of the schools' view has broadened tremendously. The day of the field trip to a museum or the kindergarten class walk to the library being an "exciting new learning experience" is now routine. Though, these examples cited are still valuable.

We are looking at school districts, at least in the Pleasanton area, that are quite contemporary and aware of the community.

I will cite two activities to substantiate this. The Fifth Grade Outdoor Education Program is going into its third year. For the unknowning, this program is something far beyond the traditional "field trip." It will involve approximately 500 students from four Pleasanton district schools, three regular classroom teachers, four or five student teachers from Cal State Hayward, 12 to 14 high school students serving as cabin counselors and uncounted hours of planning on the part of administration and staff.

The "outdoor school" will be held at Redwood Camp, part of the Mt. Hermon Conference Center, in the Santa Cruz mountains. Also, one week will be held at Monte Toyon Camp in the mountains near Aptos.

Obviously, the logistics of transporting, housing and providing an exemplary learning experience for these 500 or so students is a monumental one.

Objectives of the Outdoor Education program are to provide children "unique experiences in growing personally, in developing responsibility to themselves, and also in their relationship to others." The quote comes from a report given recently by Carl Krause Director of Elementary Education, to Supt. Bruce Newlin and the school boards.

Krause notes that all curriculum areas will be studied in an integrated manner using the environment as a base. I believe this is the heart of the entire concept of an outdoor program.

If followed closely by all teachers, aides and counselors involved, the experiences learned by these students could be of life-long value.

The second activity that will show the local districts' attempts to go beyond the bounds of the classroom and involve the community concerns Vintage Hills School.

While it is nowhere near the scope of the Outdoor Education Program, is of considerable significance to residents in the Vintage Hills area.

Under the leadership of Janet Gabrielson of the Vintage Hills PTA and the school administration, a concerted effort is being made to provide a playground at the school that will serve the surrounding area.

In order to provide funds to purchase playground equipment and landscape the area, students and parents are now selling sweatshirts, replete with orange "Vintage Hills" lettering on a dark green or gold (take your choice) background.

With the cooperation of the city, in regards the technical problems, a playground to serve the entire area is now beginning to take shape at the school.

The idea behind this concept is deserving of support. Towards this end, we would encourage support through the purchase of a sweatshirt for either a child or adult (they come in different sizes). You may purchase one by calling either Mrs. Gabrielson at 846-2669 or the school, 462-4100.

Sound and Fury Walt Hecox

With Livermore's City Council about to adopt an affirmative action program, Mr. Bob Allen, the valley's residence right wing member of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District Board of Directors, mounted his fine white horse and readied himself to do battle with any available windmill.

I suspect Bob, like many others not excluding this old man, believes it is just possible "affirmative action" is a euphemism for job discrimination against white male Anglo Saxon Protestants.

We are told the city Monday night adopted a plan which calls for women and minority group members to compose from 25 to 44 percent of the total work force to be hired over the next five years.

Those figures could scare hell out of anyone except the liberal nit wits who are moulding the destiny of this tired old globe these days.

I, for one, am inclined to wonder exactly what the percentage of women and minority group members of the total Livermore city work force is at the moment.

More than that I get the impression the city would pass over a person with superior qualifications in favor of a woman or minority group member.

I could follow that thought through a lot of silly channels including the proper definition of a "minority group." We are all members of a minority one way or another.

At the moment, however, my purpose is to ease the mind of the folks out there who believe the reverse discrimination so much in vogue now will lead to the promotion of mediocrity in these United States.

But if affirmative action programs are properly administered nothing could be farther from the truth, at least not if the information I get from Allen is correct.

Robert goes right to the source for his facts. In this case his source is Paul E. Holmes, director of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare's Office for Civil Rights.

When Bob requests action he goes all out. He wanted us to print all of a statement by Holmes plus a memorandum that worthy gentleman issued to college and university presidents regarding affirmative action.

I would assume the memoranda would apply also to other organizations and because of that and the understandable worry by a large segment of the population over reverse discrimination I propose to quote, in my inimitable manner, from Holmes memoranda to the presidents.

The meat of Holmes declaration can be found on page two of Holmes memoranda, a tidy little item which reads as follows:

"At the outset, certain general principles should be made clear. Colleges and universities are entitled to select the most qualified candidate, without regard to race, sex or ethnicity, for any position. The college or university, not the Federal Government, is to say what constitutes qualifications for any particular position. No single appointment will be objected to where those not appointed are less well qualified than the candidate actually selected."

Farther down the page Holmes says: "As defined on 'page five of the guidelines' recruitment is the process by which an institution or department within an institution develops an applicant pool from which hiring decisions are made." As indicated on page six of the Guidelines, a contractor must make an explicit statement of its commitment to equal employment opportunity in all recruiting announcements and advertisements, and it may do so by specifying that it is an 'equal opportunity employer.' There is a caveat:

"It is a violation of the Executive Order, however," for a prospective employer to state that only members of a particular minority group or sex will be considered.

"A major purpose of the affirmative action provision of the Executive Order is to broaden the pool of applicants so that women and minorities will be considered for employment along with all other applicants. The affirmative action process must not operate to restrict consideration to minorities and women only."

Holmes, while making it clear that applications should be recruited from all strata of society, insists that, regardless of quota, the best qualified person should fill the job.

The type of announcement which identifies the category of applicants who will be considered on the basis of race and/or sex would be unacceptable because it has the effect of discouraging the candidacy of other categories." As an example of an improper job announcement, he offers the following:

"Pursuant to our affirmative action plan establishing goals for the employment of women and minorities, the English Department of X University is seeking to fill this position with a woman."

Farther down the page Holmes indicates such a practice would violate equal employment opportunity obligations by designating the vacancy as a position for a woman, or as one in which a woman would be preferred, thereby excluding all other categories of applicants from consideration.

"Such action is forbidden by the Executive Order, and it is improper to suggest or to act on the assumption that Federal affirmative action provisions require that any particular position be filled by a woman or minority person," Holmes noted.

It was bad enough when they were content to just change the King's English. The Australian ability to make us Yankees sound like foreigners is enough to board ship and throw all those kangaroo skins in the water.

But now there is new reason to stir the Yankee ire. The Aussies want to write a new spelling book! An example is offered in a recent UP release. "Eny more apels? sed Dick. 'I alredy at them,' sed Jane. And so it goes.

After almost a quarter century spent in learning the English - Canadian version of spelling (Honour with the "u" and civilisation with the "s") and another quarter century tackling such Americanized specials as "systematize" and "jawboning" I am now faced with the prospect of a cocktail hour Australized into a "six o'clock swill" and all my new - found Yankee "a's" suddenly converted to the screaming "aye's." It is most disconcerting.

No one is going to invade the land down under for insisting "the rine in Spine falls mostly on the pline," but when they threaten to change the dictionary so that any fool can understand it, what's a Webster to do? Not to mention the Monday night football telecast team.

Speaking of changing the unchangeable, we are indebted to the Tracy Press for that recent photo which shows Mr. Gene Birk — he of former Highland Oaks activity — complete with mustache. (Moustache?) That will come as a total surprise to Mr. Birk, but not to the brave Tracy Press photog who drew the offending black strip across Gene's upper lip, before sending the finished photo through production and finally to the press.

So now there are some 6000 copies of Gene Birk's pencilled upper lip making the rounds of Tracy. There is also one red - faced publisher trying to explain to the vice president and manager of the Northern California Savings and Loan office in Tracy (that would be the same Gene Birk) how come the touched - up lip, and furthermore "that's really no reason to cancel Northern California S'n'L's big advertising account with the newspaper, is it?"

Which is not quite as bad as the explanation being hammered out these days by the press and electronic folks in Webster City, Iowa. They were good enough to launch their own "anti crime campaign" complete with a total blackout on all mention of vandalism for a period of three months. Sort of get the young people out of the idea of wrecking the town. And the result? During the 90 days when vandalism was not once mentioned by the press, tv or radio, police records show a 30 percent jump in all those categories.

Which must prove something, but right now the message is unclear.

We are also collectively indebted to Mr. Leo J. Trombatore (that's the original English spelling) for this bit of information which comes to us from Black Bart, via the California Department of Transportation. It seems, that after 90 days or so of studying the folks who use our new two billion dollar transit system, the computer can now report (are you ready?) that with the inception of all them trains, tubes and stuff, the public's use of AC Transit buses has dipped by 11 percent; Greyhound loads across the Bay have dropped from ten percent of the total commuter count to just two percent of same; and the faithful American automobile has managed to hang in there despite it all — slipping from 56 percent of the total passenger load to just 51 percent of same.

Or to coin an old saying by Confusion, "He who builds a better mouse trap should first check the price of cheese."

Meanwhile, back in Australia, our thanks to all of you who have expressed concern for the the Down Under branch of our clan. But no, the awful winds which destroyed Darwin were far, from the Queensland ranch where our kids hold forth against the elements, the rabbits, the wild dogs, the mice, and the current market price of five cents per pound for beef. Other than that, they are in good shape.

The only wind blowing that far south in Australia is the Japanese tycoon, trying to explain how come they still keep producing cars and cameras like crazy for the Australian market, while failing to buy any Aussie beef in return. The Rising Sun, it would appear, is running out of yeast.

P.S. Forgot to mention that the reason Tracy Press carried Gene Birk's handsome photo, with or without mustache, is that Gene is heading up that community's 1975 Heart Fund Drive. Including Mr. Birk is also active in a number of civic causes, the busy (and again I quote the esteemed Tracy Press) a role with the "Premature Research of Stanford." Just like Gene Birk to be way ahead of the parade.

by john edmands

"In carrying out an affirmative action plan, the period for recruitment may be extended, particularly where a utilization analysis indicates that the percentage of women and minorities recruited is substantially less than the percentage of qualified women and minorities available in the work force. In such cases, additional positive recruitment efforts may be undertaken to broaden the applicant pool to include qualified women and minorities. OCR would approve (but not require) the decision to keep open competition for the position. But it must be emphasized again that nothing in an affirmative action plan requires the employment of any specific number of women or minorities.

"Thus, if the Department can demonstrate that it has taken all recruitment steps required under its affirmative action plan — and even though no (or very few) applications have been received from women and minorities — there would be no requirement that the recruitment period be extended."

Perhaps the most significant statement by Holmes can be found on page 7 of his memoranda which states:

"The Executive Order does not require the job requirements be waived or lowered in order to attract women and minority candidates. Indeed, it expressly forbids differential standards based on race, color, sex, religion or national origin. Further, it requires that once valid job requirements are established, they must be applied equally to all candidates. It is discriminatory for such requirements to be applied selectively on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, or national origin."

By those standards, my friends, we have nothing to worry about. The best man or woman will win by Executive Order. Which is, of course, all any of us really wants. Governor Brown, please note.

Thank you, Bob, for sending me that refreshing memorandum. There will be no reverse discrimination in these United States and particularly not in Livermore. On that you can bet your Sweet Post Toasties.

But don't bet anything else.

For Friday, Jan. 17, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Although you'll be tempted to do otherwise, manage things from behind the scenes. Let another take the bows.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A philosophical discussion will arise with a friend. To make your points and keep your pal, keep your temper in check.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be very tactful in handling people you have authority over. Don't reward one and ignore the others.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Be careful how you phrase things or you'll pit one listener against the other and have both upset at you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You tend to be a bit too possessive today. You're not likely to take polite measures to cover your feelings.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) This is not a good day to extend an impromptu invitation to come to your home, without consulting with your mate.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) For the sake of your efficiency, pace yourself sensibly workwise. The more you hurry, the more careless you'll be.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) It will be a contest between better judgment and your impulses as to which rules your purse today. Make it at least a draw.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) A material issue could be the reason for a nasty family dispute today. Be sure you're not the one who provokes it.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't revive something that has angered you concerning one now essential to your immediate plans. It will impede progress.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) This will be a mixed day for you, moneywise. Prudent management of finances is essential to wind up in the black.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Keep friends out of your business matters today or one who means only to help will cause complications.

Opening lead — K ♣

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Dr. John Fisher of Dallas is known to be a rather slow player. His partners don't mind this slowness because, after he gets through thinking, John has a habit of coming up with the right play.

Against the expected spade lead John would have had no real problem. He would simply draw trumps; discard one club loser on the king of hearts and eventually set up dummy's fifth heart for a second discard. All this while ruffing his last two spades with dummy's third and fourth trump.

The king of clubs lead was bothersome. He had to get rid of his two losing clubs before he could play a spade.

He played a heart to the ace, discarded one club on the king of hearts, ruffed a heart, thought for some time, led a low diamond and finessed dummy's nine. If the finesse had lost to the jack he would have been down two, but the finesse worked and East followed. Now John ruffed another heart with the ace of trumps, entered dummy's last club on the last heart and conceded a spade.

His special finesse was the correct play. We'll explain why tomorrow.

Regional parks chief assailed by Union

OAKLAND — The East Bay Regional Parks District general manager is being charged with

"irresponsible" actions leading up to union negotiations.

The American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees Local 2428 is accusing parks general manager Richard Trudeau of "driving morale to a new low."

Union representative Thomas Rankin said that Trudeau refused to meet with union representatives on a pending employee contract and he is responsible for an attempt to separate almost one-third of the union members from the negotiating unit.

Trudeau said all this is untrue. He said he was never contacted regarding a possible meeting, but would not have agreed because such a session would be in violation of a memorandum of understanding with the union.

While Rankin said the park district is trying to separate workers from the union by awarding them salary increases without going through the negotiation procedure, Trudeau justifies the recent salary hikes for 19 middle management persons as the recommendation of a recent management study.

Rankin said, "We feel that if we could meet directly with Trudeau, rather than with hired representatives, we might be able to make some progress."

On the subject of early salary increases of up to 32 per cent, the union representative said, "The district has no civil service system and the union is the employees only source of job security."

The union represents 180 of the district's 210 employees.

Rankin said negotiations have broken off, but the park district reports a federal arbitrator will be issuing a decision Feb. 10, decision Feb. 10.

Negotiations began in September. The current contract expires March 31.

The park district is seeking a three-year contract while the union would like a 15-month document.

School building measure support

LIVERMORE — Before making up your mind about the school building measure that will be on the March 4 ballot, find out about what's badly needed in your neighborhood schools.

Ask your neighborhood school principals about the problems at their schools, urges Clarence Hoenig, chairman of the Livermore Unified School District's citizens' committee working to pass the $10 million measure.

At the building committee's first meeting last week, "Many members of the committee were shocked to learn of the critical deficiencies which exist at Junction and East Avenue Intermediate Schools as well as serious shortcomings at Granada and Livermore High Schools," Hoenig said.

At the meeting, four subcommittees of the building committee were formed. They were voter outreach, business and service organization activities, publicity and speakers' bureau.

Contributions to finance the pro-building campaign may be sent to Mrs. Pat Crawford at her home, 4224 Colgate Way.

Anyone who wishes to help may contact chairman Hoenig at 447-0437.

Requests for speakers may be channeled to David Smith, 443-4641. Businessmen interested in helping sponsor a student poster contest on "Your Right to Vote" may contact John Sarboraria at 443-4310.

The next general building committee meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 22, at the Education Center, Las Positas at Murrieta Boulevard.

Adult, children rec classes scheduled

Valley Community Services District has announced children's and adult's classes for the spring which include:

— Pre-school tumbling on Tuesdays begin Jan. 14, at the $10, 10 week course.

— Judo for 6 to 14 year olds on Tuesdays, Jan. 14, 4 to 5 p.m. $20 for 10 weeks.

— Adult art classes begin Wednesday, Jan. 22, at Shannon

Community Center, Cultural Arts Room. $20 covers the 10 week, 9 a.m. to noon class.

— Children's art classes, Shannon Community Center, Cultural Arts Room, 4 to 5:30 p.m., starting Jan. 24, $12 for 10 weeks.

— Guitar classes for children, teenagers, and adults will be offered on Jan. 28, and Jan. 30. Children's classes will be 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Teen classes 7:30 to 8:30 p.m., and adult classes at 8:30 to 9:30 p.m. You must have your own folk guitar and $7 for 8 lessons. Louise Weber is the teacher.

— Pre-School session still has some openings. Both 8:45 a.m. to 10:45 a.m. and 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. classes are available at Shannon Community Center, Cultural Arts Room. $35 will pay for 40 hours.

Yoga classes will begin on Thursday, Jan. 23, 7 to 8 p.m., at Shannon Community Center, at 10 weeks for $15. The class is conducted by Grady McMurtry. For further information call 828-7711.

Dog licenses date noted

LIVERMORE — Dog licenses which expired Dec. 31, 1974, must be renewed by Jan. 31, the city finance director reminds canine owners.

The license is $4 but only $2 for spayed female or neutered male dogs. Rabies vaccination is required every two years and renewal notices, which have been sent to registered dog owners, are marked when vaccination is due.

Dog owners who did not receive a renewal notice should check their license expiration date and contact City Hall if the license has expired.

Auto buyers' pride and joy

Automobile Buyers Company, located at 1453 1st Street, Livermore, is a unique dealership in several respects. Ralph Skobielew, the owner, boasts that his young one - and - a - half year old company is the only independent auto store in an area extending south of Walnut Creek to Fremont. And wife, Barbara is one of the Bay Area's two females directly involved in auto company management. This is her fine old Falcon Knight, which was made in the 1920s. Although Auto Buyers is relatively new in the Valley, the Skobielews bring to their business over 35 years auto experience. Their attractive showroom and adjoining lot contain some of the area's most unique autos and superior pre - owned vehicles, and, as Ralph explains, "Unlike many dealers we extend financing to our customers. Yes, we will carry qualified buyers and we rarely charge interest for this service."

Don Cogan, the new car manager, seconds that emotion.

Don Plummer points with pride to spruced-up plant

Don Plummer, the new owner of Don Plummer Chevrolet - Buick in Livermore, is justifiably proud of the changes that have taken place at his dealership since he assumed ownership in last October.

From the newly refurbished conference room at the 1841 First St. office to the spruced-up used car shop across the street, the emphasis is on a sharp, clean appearance — which underlines Plummer's basic operating policy.

"We believe that a bright, upbeat appearance is the first important thing customers notice about a shop. And we back up our 'first impression' with informed salesmanship and the best in followup service," says Plummer.

He brings 28 years of experience to his new Chevy - Buick dealership, having operated stores in Fremont and Jackson. He is still involved with Nugget Motors in Quincy.

Among the competent staff of 27 at Don Plummer Chevrolet - Buick is General Manager Don Cogan, Service Manager Bob Eelsing and Parts Manager Fred Largent.

T.W. Goe goes on and on

T.W. Goe has been around the valley for over 10 years, handling sales service, and just about everything else connected with GOE AUTO SALES. He accepted his official franchise from International Harvester in 1964, and his association with this company has been a mutually beneficial one for the past decade.

Prior to this association, Goe's background includes a wealth of auto experience. His career began in 1935 in Ogden, Utah, where he was a salesman for the Hinckley Motor Car Dodge dealer. He then sold Fords, Willys, Dromond T's and Grahams before taking a foot-trip through Europe with General Patton. After the war, Goe managed the Capital Chevrolet Co. in Salt Lake City, and finally moved West where in 1953 where he was again manager for a Chevy daler. But the fog proved too much, and he settled in our sunny valley as co-dealer and general manager for Howdy Chevrolet in Livermore. Goe became the valley's only used car dealer in 1960 and the rest is history.

T.W. Goe enjoys a pleasant and continuing relationship with his customers and provides the finest in service with the assistance of son Tom and master mechanic, Frank Morgan.

Bud Gestri had the original Franchise in 1952 and Milt Codioli went to work for him in 1965. Prior to that Milt worked for Ford Motor Co..

In January 1969 Milt purchased the Franchise from Bud Gestri.

Since 1926

GRAND OPENING OFFER

FREE!
When you bank
with us

Open a checking or savings account at our new Pleasanton office, and we'll give you a 5-piece pitcher and tumbler set absolutely free as a get-acquainted gift. This smart-looking 2½ quart capacity pitcher features a tapered spout for easy pouring and a triple top that strains, pours free, or remains closed to prevent spillage. The pitcher is dishwasher safe and unbreakable and comes with 4 attractive tumblers. Quantities are limited, so hurry.

ALSO AVAILABLE:

FREE CHECKING FOR LIFE

no minimum balance

Open a personal checking account with an initial deposit of $50 at our Pleasanton office and start enjoying free checking for life. We don't ask any favors in return... not even that you keep a minimum monthly balance. The only expense to you is the normal cost of imprinting your checks. The only way you can lose your free checking is if you overdraw your account—and you can avoid that by taking advantage of our special overdraft protection service. Free checking for life, with no minimum balance. Available now at our Pleasanton office.
